6. How many air monitors were deployed in your council area in the financial years a) 2015/16 b) 2020/21 c) 2024/25

Responsibility for air quality monitoring in areas of two-tier local government sits with lower tier local authorities. This means that in Suffolk, air quality monitoring is carried out by the respective borough and district councils who report their monitoring activities every year within their Annual Status Reports. These reports include locations and readings of monitors within their area and are published on their respective local authority websites.

Historic reports covering all the requested periods should still be available on their websites, but if not, these can be requested by contacting the relevant council directly.
