

Would you like to nurture, inspire, and educate the next generation?

- Have a job that is fun, playful, rewarding and full of variety?
- Make a difference to babies, young children and their families?

A career in the early years in Suffolk could be for you!

Whether you are leaving school or college or fancy a career change, the early years sector welcomes you and needs a diverse workforce.

There will always be a need for people to work educating and caring for young children as parents will always need childcare to access work.

There is a range of different roles in early years settings supporting you to develop your knowledge and skills and to progress your career working with young children.

There are lots of options available to gain an early years qualification and you may be eligible for funding. You can gain your qualification at many different levels including degree level, with Level 2 & Level 3 qualifications being very popular.

Contact your local college, training provider or Apprenticeships Suffolk for more information on qualifications.

If you are interested in working with young children now is a great time to start your career!
